

Here's a Movie You'll Have
To Take at Its "Face" Value

ANITA STEWART. SHE HAS THE BRIGHTEST EYE OF ANY MOVIE STAR. YOU'RE GIVEN PLENTY OF OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY HER AT CLOSE RANGE IN "SOWING THE WIND"

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, June 27.—Bring out the old family album. Take out all the old snapshots and canoes of Aunt Eliza and Uncle George and grandpa when he was a boy.

Insert in their places photographs of Anita Stewart in various degrees of facial contortion.

Now flip the pages under your thumb and you'll not have to go to the movies to see "Sowing the Wind."

Never was a picture made with more close-ups than "Sowing the Wind." You forget you're watching a movie when you see it. You begin to believe that Miss Stewart's photographer has asked you to come around to the studio to help her select the best of the proofs.

That really is difficult, for Anita is very easy to look at, as the boys say. However, too much of a good thing is more than enough.

It is doubtful if ever a picture was made with more subtleties and less action. The subtleties preach to you. The gist of their sermon is "As ye see, so shall ye rip," or something like that.

A man doesn't want his adopted son to marry an actress. Women of the stage are no good, anyway, he says. And this particular actress is the daughter of a woman who is the male attraction at a gambling den.

She doesn't know who her father is. You rather pity the girl for not knowing who her father is. You know it as soon as the picture has proceeded 1000 feet. He's the foster-father of her sweetheart of course.

It seems that the old man in his younger day had married an actress and deserted her and knew nothing of the birth of the girl.

And so when he shakes his finger at her and tells her she isn't good enough for his adopted son he is paying the way for his own punishment.

That comes when he finally learns that.

been referred to in England as an "organizer of assassination." It is stated in some quarters that De Valera will not go to London without these two men, while it is predicted that he will insist upon the release of other men now detained or imprisoned in order that they may accompany him. It is pointed out that the wording of the premier's letter will make it impossible for him to refuse such a demand by De Valera. This is considered to constitute a remarkable and significant change in the attitude of the British premier, who earlier in the year accepted certain Sinn Feiners from those whom he would be willing to receive as negotiators. The men accepted had been denounced in the house of commons as murderers.

In the event that De Valera refuses the premier's invitation, it is generally believed that the government will take certain preparations for a vigorous campaign to suppress Sinn Fein activities in the west and south. Troops which could be used for this purpose are constantly arriving in Ireland.

In some sources, it is predicted that the service of British soldiers may be needed even if De Valera consents to negotiate, as it is held that he will be unable to stop the activities of Sinn Fein rishmen without British help.

The Manchester Guardian in an editorial captioned, "It Is Business," says that Premier Lloyd George, for the first time has taken a definitely practical step toward a settlement of the Irish question. The Guardian is of the opinion that the conference will be largely one between the Sinn Fein and Ulster which, it says, makes all the difference "for it cannot be too often repeated that an agreement between Ulster and Ireland is as a whole and this country."

It points out that both sides must make concessions, while if the conference is to be a tripartite one, "it is because important concessions will necessarily be required from the British government also."

Promises Earnest Consideration BELFAST, June 27.—In a message telegraphed here from Paris, where he is acting for Irish republican Sean O'Ceallaigh, member of the Irish republican parliament, says: "Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to explore the possibilities of a settlement, if independence is not excluded, will undoubtedly receive the earnest consideration of President De Valera and the Irish cabinet."

Ulster Paper Protests

BELFAST, June 27.—The unionist newspaper Northern Whig takes exception to Premier Lloyd George's attempt to "draw Ulster into a conference with the Sinn Fein, declaring he is not treating Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, fairly in asking him to meet Eamonn de Valera."

"What is Ulster to do with De Valera's absurd claim that he has set up a republic in the country?" the paper demands.

The News Letter says: "We are disclosing no secrets when we say that this invitation for a conference is a sequel to the bringing into being of the northern parliament. The Sinn Fein has to face that fact and reckon with it. We can only do that in view of two ways—by abandoning the demand for a republic and agreeing to the establishment of a southern Ireland act, or by continuing its present insane campaign to its own destruction by force."

The Nationalist Irish News says that the idea of inviting De Valera and Premier Craig to a conference at London did not occur to Lloyd George and his colleagues until "they had told King George the agent and instrument of their policy of obstruction in Ireland."

After pointing out that full fiscal freedom must be the basis of any negotiations, for a national settlement, the paper says:

"It remains to be seen whether Lloyd George is acting because of a spasmodic pang of honesty or is merely developing another strategic maneuver for putting five-sixths of the Irish nation in wrong before the eyes of the world."

Confers With Colleagues

BERLIN, June 27.—(By Associated Press)—After a day of conferences with colleagues in connection with Premier Lloyd George's letter, it was considered improbable that Eamonn de Valera would make any statement regarding the invitation. It was said that last evening de Valera's conference with his colleagues had not been completed and that possibly a meeting of the Dail Eireann members might be considered essential to the situation.

Mr. de Valera yesterday served at mass and took breakfast at Blackrock college, where at one time he used to teach.

In Sinn Fein circles it is considered probable that if Mr. de Valera goes to London to confer with Premier Lloyd George and Premier Craig of Ulster, one colleague he is sure to take along with him is John Joseph McKeown, member of parliament representing Longford, who recently was tried by court-martial on a charge of murdering District Inspector McGrath.

The letter was variously discussed here yesterday. One high Sinn Fein said he thought it an insult and an implying acceptance of partition. Other political leaders saw in the letter an abandonment by the premier of his repeated bar against certain Sinn Feiners, as de Valera, they said, would be free to choose any colleague he pleased even men under sentence by court-martial.

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, said he could not see much use of a conference between Sir James Craig and Mr. de Valera, but as the government also was involved there might be some hope, although it would be desirable for the government to release from prison moderates like Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein. The Sunday Independent, referring to the letter, says:

The premier's letter is a document of the greatest political importance.

It is a welcome admission of the fact that we have insisted upon—that an honorable peace in Ireland is achievable only through direct negotiations with the elected representatives.

It is for our representatives to judge the full and real significance of this appeal.

Inspector Killed

BERLIN, June 27.—Detective Inspector Good, stationed at Northwall, was shot dead and Section Leader White of the auxiliaries quartered at Northwall was seriously wounded last night. The shooting occurred while the men were dining with their wives in a hotel in Dublin.

On Saturday night a number of men gathered at the home of Charles Trainor, outside the town of Monaghan, and informed his wife that he had been fined 10 pounds sterling by a public court. She paid the fine. The men returned two hours later, took Trainor out and shot him dead. They attached the label of "spy" to the body.

Houses Burned in Cork

CORK, June 26.—Armed men on Saturday burned a number of houses in the Irish-free district of Cork, among them the homes of Brig. Gen. Caulfield, Col. Godfrey and Michael Denches.

WHAT A WOMAN SHOULD DO WHEN SHE IS WEAK AND NERVOUS

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN HAVE SURPRISINGLY INCREASED THEIR STRENGTH, ENERGY AND ENDURANCE IN TWO WEEKS TIME BY THIS SIMPLE EXPERIMENT.

On account of the terrible weakness, nervousness and alarming symptoms which are often produced by iron starvation of the blood, the sufferer frequently never suspects the real cause of her trouble but thinks she has some other ailment. As a result of iron starvation, many suffer from headaches, dizziness, shortness of breath, heart palpitation, pain across the back, loss of memory, weak will power, indigestion, loss of appetite, sleepless nights, night sweats, and so on. In such cases do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in state of nervous prostration, but eat more spinach and other green vegetables and take organic iron like Nuxedite Iron with them for a while and see what a difference it makes. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually use. It is better to take iron just as it comes from the earth, with organic iron like Nuxedite Iron like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Beware of substitutes. Look for the name "Nuxedite" on every package and the letters "N.D." on every label. The money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.

Boston Society Girl Weds Prince Under Heavy Guard at Roxbury

PRINCE MICHAEL CANTACUZENE AND HIS BRIDE, MISS CLARISSA PELHAM CURTIS OF BOSTON. THE PRINCE'S MOTHER WAS MISS JULIA DENT GRANT, GRAND-DAUGHTER OF THE PRESIDENT.

BOSTON, June 27.—Guarded by a platoon of police under the command of a captain, and with secrecy the watchword, Miss Clarissa Curtis, one of Boston's most popular society girls, became the bride of Prince Michael Cantacuzene, great-grandson of Gen. U. S. Grant, in a little out-of-the-way church in Roxbury yesterday.

The nuptial ceremony, through which this Boston girl was to become a Russian princess of the old regime, was, as far as the public knew, scheduled to take place with much pomp and pageant and with society heaving its approval, at Nahant today.

A royal mandate and a desire to safeguard the only members of the Russian royalty in the Bay State was responsible for the departure of the couple from their original plans, thus treating all but their close relatives to a surprise.

Word Comes From Russia

Today's ceremony was to have been the only one, so far as the original plans of the couple were concerned. Recently, however, word came from the head of the royal group who emerged alive from the Russian debacle, that he would consent to the marriage of the prince only on condition that the latter be married legally in his own—the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic church. Consent was necessary if the bride was to be recognized as a princess in what is left of Russia's royalist circles.

Warning was conveyed, too, that the greatest care must be taken to provide for the safety of the prince from any persons who might be afflited with the Bolsheviks, and who might wish to do him and his lovely bride bodily harm.

Thus it was decided to have two ceremonies, the first and legal one in the little Russian edifice in Roxbury yesterday, and the second and confirming one in the bride's church at Nahant today.

Legion's New Chief Tells Program; Will Push Fight for Compensation

INDIANAPOLIS, June 27.—The new national commander of the American Legion, Major John G. Emery, is up to his neck in the job. He outlined his program today especially for The Sun.

"The time is ripe to stress the adjusted compensation program undertaken by the legion," he said. "This does not mean giving up one iota of interest in the legislative program for the benefit of disabled soldiers which is approaching conclusion."

EMERY.—"The five-fold adjusted compensation program, before congress, back of which the legion will throw its full force, gives the service men five options:

"FIRST, to buy a farm home on terms not available to the ordinary person.

"SECOND, to borrow money on special terms which will enable him to purchase a city home.

"THIRD, to enter a course in vocational training.

"FOURTH, an insurance feature with a deferred payment system.

"FIFTH, the cash payment.

"The American Legion will continue to urge the men to take the first four in preference to the cash payment.

"We have been told that there are some people—"gold-breakers." They were called in the army—getting compensation although not disabled. The legion will lead its aid to safeguard the government against being imposed upon by such men."

ahead of the bride. He was accompanied by his father and his mother, the latter before her marriage Miss Julia Dent Grant, granddaughter of Gen. U. S. Grant. The bride was accompanied by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Pelham Curtis of 47 Beacon street. Both parties motored to the church from Nahant and after the ceremony returned to the Curtis home in that town.

In the motor with the bride and her parents came Gordon Palmer, about seven or eight years old. He carried an icon of the Madonna and Child Jesus worked in gold. It was the property at one time of the dead czar of Russia, who had died with him when he was at the front during the world war. When he gave up his throne Gen. Korniloff transferred it to the Cantacuzene family. Another interesting feature was the presence of Pauline Palmer, a little five or six-year-old girl.

After the wedding party had entered the church the doors were closed, for none but the specially invited guests were permitted to witness the ceremony, conducted with all the pomp and ritual of the Russian Orthodox Greek church.

With the marriage of the young prince Cantacuzene and Miss Curtis the second prince of this illustrious Russian royal government fell. A rage to an American girl, Prince Cantacuzene was born in Russia, but frequently visited this country before he became a student at Harvard. He graduated from that university a few days ago.

The Cantacuzene family held large estates in Southern Russia. The elder prince held important military positions in St. Petersburg, however, and most of the time of the family was spent in that capital. The family came to America during the war, when the Russian royal government fell. A friendship sprang up between the young prince and Miss Curtis, and it was no surprise to friends when the engagement was announced last October.

The interior of the church presented a simple, beautiful spectacle. It had been decorated the week before for a celebration of the church. Besides the regular church ornamentation branches of young green trees were spread about the auditorium, while green grass was spread about the floor.

There are no pews in the church and the party stood up during the ceremony. The Rev. J. E. Grigorieff, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

TO FURTHER IDEALS OF EX-PRESIDENT WILSON

NEW YORK, June 27.—Plans for the establishment of a fund to endow the Woodrow Wilson foundation, a movement started last March, to honor the former president for his public service were given out yesterday by Franklin D. Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy, who is chairman of the national committee.

"Its purpose," Mr. Roosevelt said, "will be to recognize and further the ideals for which Mr. Wilson stood. In raising a fund for the permanent endowment of this award, the American people will be given an opportunity to express their appreciation of Mr. Wilson's services to humanity."

J. J. Fitzpatrick Says Fifty Thousand Dollars Couldn't Buy the Good Tanlac Did Him

"I wouldn't swap the good Tanlac has done me for fifty thousand dollars in cash," was the emphatic statement made by James J. Fitzpatrick, 9 Bellingham Ave., Beachmont, Mass., well known employe of the National Aniline and Chemical company of Boston.

It just seemed that Tanlac was made specially for my case, for the way it has restored my health is simply remarkable. For six months before I commenced taking it my whole system was out of order. My stomach was in such an awful fix I could hardly eat anything, and often had spells of indigestion, when I thought surely my time had come, for the gas on my stomach would almost choke me and the pains nearly drove me distracted. I was so nervous I never got any good sleep. I had rheumatism, too, in my neck and hands, and many days it was so bad I just could limp around and could hardly make my rounds at the plant.

I had been disappointed by so many medicines that I had but very little confidence in Tanlac, but since taking it I can tell anybody they can depend on it, and I wouldn't think of being without it myself. My stomach trouble and rheumatism are entirely gone, and I am eating, sleeping and getting about just like a school boy. My wife packs my lunch pail jam full of good, heavy foods and I never leave a bit of it to bring home. In short, I have never felt better in my life, and I gladly tell everyone Tanlac is the greatest medicine on earth.

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; Wright Drug Co., Haverhill, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; W. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.

Only Woman in Parliament Tells How to Bring the Men to Time!

LADY NANCY ASTOR

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, June 27.—"Time's up, my man. You've broken your pledges. You've fought the things we are interested in. You'll have to pass on and out."

That's what Viscountess Astor, American-born and the only woman member of the British parliament, thinks the women voters of Britain and of America will have to say to their elected representatives when they "fall down" on their pledges.

"I think you could soon build such a fire under that man that he would either change his tactics or prepare for defeat at the next election."

"Members of parliament know the women of the country have their eyes upon them. The women are reading their speeches and noting how they vote. They are taking the measure of the man who will come to them pleading for their votes in the next election."

"That's what I urge the women of America to do—take the measure of every public servant. If he fails short of the yardstick, put him out and put in some one who will do what the people want."

"I don't believe the predictions that women will be found following exactly in the political footsteps of their fathers, brothers, husbands and sweethearts."

"They don't show down before any political golden calf; they don't yet swear by any hackneyed political shibboleth; they don't wrap themselves very closely in the folds of any party political banner."

"I know some would-be cynics say women are guided by their feelings and emotions. But I think you will find more and more as time goes on that in America and Britain the women will disregard old political creeds and will vote for ideas, for great moral principles, for men and measures that will bring more sanity, more health, more cleanliness into the life of their nation."

PRELIMINARY PLANS FOR FIELD DAY

FOR FIELD DAY

The O'Connell district board, A.A.R.I.R., held a meeting last evening, at which preliminary plans were laid for a giant field day, scheduled for Labor Day. With President John Barrett in the chair, a committee was appointed comprising four members from each council of the organization in Lowell and in outlying towns.

Announcement was made by George Brennan, president of the George Washington council, to the effect that the branch which he heads will direct a public mass meeting at the Fair Grounds in the near future. He invited all members of other councils, through their representatives at the gathering, to be present at this event.

Arrangements have been made by the General Gisney council, it was announced, for an outing to Revere beach, Sunday, July 1, automobile trucks being used for the conveyance of the members. Reports of great progress in the drive for 1000 new members during the next month were made. James O'Sullivan, M. J. Sharkey and others, were among those who addressed the assembly.

NEW LAKEVIEW PARK

Free vaudeville, afternoon and evening, will be featured at New Lakeview park this week, with the Patterson trio performing. Some excellent entertainment in this line is thus assured. The extensive dance hall continues to be the talk of the Merrimack valley, with Miner-Boyle's big orchestra coming in for ample appreciation. Saturday, more than 1000 people came down from Nashua to join the excursion of the tennisphiles and the other attractions. From Lowell several thousands more were present. It was one of the biggest days in Lakeview's history.

SEE WHAT FRANCE IS WEARING

From France come full-skirted taffeta gowns reminiscent of pre-war lavishness of dress materials. At St. Cloud, during the international tennis tournament, the full-skirted tendencies in the Parisian styles were evident. Not only are the skirts full but they are long. The girl on the left wears a taffeta gown with a flowered border on the skirt. The deep roll collar is typical of the French dressmaker. The sleeves are bell shaped, the white lower portion having the same embroidered band as decorates the collar. Both gowns seem to be crying: "Down with the short skirt!"

DICTION IS BARRED BY SOCIALISTS

DETROIT, Mich., June 27—Seized with what Morris Hillquit described as a "homely" mania, the socialist national convention yesterday killed three resolutions which sought in varying terms to define "dictatorship by the proletariat" as a part of socialist policy and then overwhelmed two others which asserted the dictatorship is not at this time an issue. A session which lasted for three and a half hours in a sweltering hall ended with all reference to working class dictatorship barred from the party policy.

The fight against inclusion of the dictatorship was waged by Morris Hillquit, Victor Berger, Alexander Lee and Cameron King of California. They branded it as incomparably linked in American minds with the red terror in Russia and declared it was useless to fix a policy which never would be called into play unless in some distant future a socialist revolution takes place.

"Why dictate in 1921 what our grandchildren shall do in 1930?" Berger asked, while King declared the "Terror is inseparable from dictatorship of the proletariat. They have got to have the terror to put it over."

J. Louis Englehart and William F. Kruse, left wing communists from Chicago, offered two resolutions asserting the rights of the working classes to set up a dictatorship to insure the success of a socialist revolution and the duty not to "permit anything to stand in the way of their being the ruling class." One resolution received only four votes and the second eight.

Hillquit offered a substitute which defined the dictatorship as "the political rule of the working class in the period of transition of the capitalist system to the socialist order" and added: "It is not necessarily associated with a restraint of the political rights of opponents or with violence or terror."

The New York delegation split and Delegates Orr and Solomon both urged the death of all the proposals. "We have tried to pour hot water over the term 'dictatorship of the proletariat,'" Orr said. "The soviets will laugh at us if we adopt this resolution. The communists will laugh. We will be the laughing stock of the world." The Hillquit plan was defeated 15 to 22.

The trouble lasted about a month and a half. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after I had used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed in three weeks." (Signed) Vincent Nuzzo, 117 Cottage St., East Boston, Mass., July 7, 1920.

U. S. TO BE TECHNICALLY AT PEACE BY JULY 4

WASHINGTON, June 27.—To have the United States technically at peace by July 4, appears to be the aim of republican leaders in congress in charge of the Knox-Porter peace resolutions. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate and house conference on the resolution, returned last night from Massachusetts prepared to renew negotiations early this week, probably on Tuesday.

Early agreement on differences between the senate and house resolutions is predicted by the republican conference, who are expected to reach a compromise basis before calling in the democratic conference for formal action. The compromise most widely discussed would be a part of each of the Knox and Porter resolutions into a new conference draft, taking the Porter plan for declaring a state of peace, instead of declaring a state of war, instead of declaring a state of war, as proposed by the Knox resolution.

BIG WEEK IN BRITAIN IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Prospect of Most Momentous Period in Century of British History

LONDON, June 27.—(Canadian Press)—In the event of Eamon de Valera accepting Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to visit London for a peace conference, it is probable that the Dominion prime ministers, now in London, will be invited by the British prime minister to participate in the negotiations.

If Mr. De Valera accepts the invitation this week in London may well be one of the most momentous in a century of British history. With the miners and their employers called to confer today, with hope for the settlement of the Irish question presented and with the Anglo-Japanese alliance and all that it involves under consideration, No. 10 Downing street will be big with possibilities in the future of the world.

DISABLED SOLDIERS' LEAGUE CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, June 27.—To impress congress with the necessity of taking proper care of former service men who were wounded in France, members of the National Disabled Soldiers' League opened the first convention of the organization here today with a parade to the capitol. John T. Nolan, chairman of the league's legislative committee, in a statement said the veterans intended "to air their grievances."

An effort will be made particularly, he declared, to have men who served in the mud and mire of France replace those connected with the federal board for vocational education who were not in the military service during the war.

Officers of the league said 600 disabled men had arrived in Washington for the convention. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts will be one of the speakers.

400 N. E. BANKERS VISIT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 27.—Four hundred New England bankers today forgot business worries and wandered about New York on a vacation jaunt. Tonight they were scheduled to hear an address by Vice President Coolidge, who was due to arrive this afternoon.

The bankers, who arrived yesterday, visited police headquarters today and were entertained by a drill of police rookies. The rogues' gallery was another object of interest on their tour of inspection, and there the inside workings of police protection for financial institutions were explained.

The participants in the picnic trip were heads of the National Shawmut bank of Boston and 300 correspondents of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island.

CHURCH CHOIR HOLDS ANNUAL OUTING

There was music galore on the shores of Long pond yesterday, for the members of St. Joseph's church choir held their annual outing at the camp of Club Bichetteau, and for a couple of hours they entertained the campers at that resort with very pleasant choral numbers.

In the course of the day sporting events were carried out, games were played, and the members of the party enjoyed bathing. At 2 o'clock, an elaborate shore dinner was served and the remainder of the day was taken up with more singing and more sports, and when the party left the outing grounds they extended their thanks to the members of Club Bichetteau for their cordial hospitality, and their congratulations to their director for the splendid program carried out.

MASSACHUSETTS MILL TEAM VICTORIOUS

The Massachusetts mill nine were easy victors over the Boot Mill aggregation, winning by a score of 14 to 4, Saturday evening on the South common. Peterson, of the "Mass," allowed only five scattered hits, pitching all his balls accurately, and striking out ten batters. The feature of the game was the brilliant hitting of Cheswick and Brennan. Clough and Noel also deserve great credit, registering two clean hits. Both played a nifty game in the field, while Hannaford held the fort at the second sack. Riley caught.

Carp. Must Win Early or He's Doomed

PARIS, June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Georges Gloria, who knocked out Georges Carpenter in six rounds in 1909, and is the only living man who has done so, said today in reference to next Saturday's fight: "Carpenter must win in the first or second round, or else he is doomed to defeat. The notices quoted extracts from statement by Cardinal Logue and Bishop Cahan of Cork, and also extracts from the Am Toghlach, the official organ of the Irish republican army and the members of that army were asked to choose between these sentiments. The notices were torn down shortly after they were posted, it is supposed by members of the I. R. A.

There will be no band concert at the Chelmsford Street hospitalasmuch as a victrola has recently been placed there and few of the patients are able to be out of doors.

Mayor Thompson and Manager Francis J. Roane of the carnival were in conference today in the mayor's office going over the part which the city will play in the observance and that which will be up to the Legion. The mayor will outline the result of the conference to his brother members of the city council at tomorrow's meeting.

An appropriation of $600 for the observance of the Fourth of July was made by the council early in the year and in addition an extra appropriation of $1000 for fireworks will be made.

strawberries at the establishment of the Page Catering company, was turning his machine preparatory to returning towards Merrimack square, when it was hit by Runels' car, which was coming from that direction. The force of the impact tore off the rim of the left rear wheel of the Ford, leaving only the spokes, and Mevis was thrown violently against the windshield, which broke. His right eye was cut by the glass. The front of Runels' car was also damaged.

The registry number of Mevis' car is 82460, while that of Runels' machine is 27243. Both parties to the accident are residents of this city. Mevis' son, manager of the Page store in Merrimack square, was notified of the occurrence and hurried to the hospital, but it was found that the elder Mevis was not dangerously hurt.

Runels' statement is to the effect that Mevis turned out from his position next to the car very suddenly, and that he was unable to check the speed of his car promptly enough to avoid a smash. He declared that Mevis may have put out his hand, but that he did not observe it, so unexpected and rapid was the turn taken by the Ford machine. He also added that he was unable to locate anyone who had been an eye witness of the occurrence.

loss. The insurance carried on the building was small. Miss Courtney had conducted the "Necessity Shop" for the past five years and her establishment was one of the most popular on the fench. She had formerly conducted a similar shop in this city in Westford and Lowell streets.

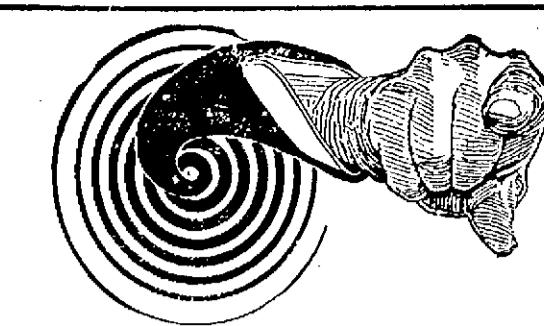

Mr. Walker, the well known Lowell contractor, not only lost his cottage, but for a time he and Mrs. Walker put in some anxious moments looking for their four children, who had been left there over Saturday in the care of a maid. Mr. and Mrs. Walker left Lowell for the beach yesterday morning intending to stay over today.

Not until they were within a short distance of the site of their cottage did they learn of the loss of their building. Their four children could not be found but they were finally located together with the maid in the James Gookin cottage beyond the fire area.

Mr. Walker's loss is partly covered by insurance. His building had a stone exterior but was of wooden construction inside.

The Kelley needlecraft shop was completely burned out, and a large amount of valuable stock destroyed.

concern in many Lowell homes. Hundreds of Lowell people spend their vacation at Hampton annually and many of them own cottages there. When news of the fire was received there from friends, many were anxious to inquire as to just what section of the beach had been destroyed. As in the case of all similar catastrophes, word of mouth reports of the fire exaggerated its extent greatly. For a time, the report was widespread that every building on the beach was laid low and many Lowell people saw their visions of vacation at Hampton go vanishing. However, when it was learned in just what area the fire raged, there was apparent relief.

Lowell people visited the beach in great numbers yesterday, and one local woman who was there said that she never saw so many machines lined along the sand before. Those who came by automobile were forced to move a few inches at a time, so great was the crowd. So cleanly did the flames leave the buildings that on a piece of sand remained where a few hours before large hotels had stood.

Certain natives of South Africa brew a drink which reverses the motor nerves, causing drinkers to walk backward. The liquor is made of the fruit of the cashew tree.

William Gargan and his mother, also Lowell residents, lost all their personal effects when the flames destroyed the cottage in which they were staying.

Hard Work Over for Champion Jack Until He Enters Ring Next Saturday

Training at Frenchman's Camp Took on Mysterious Aspect Again Today

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 27.—Hard work is over for Jack Dempsey until he enters the ring at Boyle's 30-axes next Saturday afternoon to defend his title against Georges Carpenter, champion of Europe. The champion, however, is to day, having finished his heavy work with the boys yesterday, his final boxing tomorrow and Wednesday will be to speed him up and sharpen his judgment of distance.

Members of the champion's camp are well satisfied with his condition and their studies tell of the condition of those close to the title-holder. Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, and Teddy Hayes, his trainer, believe that Dempsey's hitting power and speed, are at the proper edge and that he will pick up speed during the last three days of tapering-off practice.

Dempsey is beginning to show signs of nervousness and irritability, which indicates, his handlers say, that he is rapidly rounding into perfect fighting condition. The long strain of training is getting on his nerves and his handlers are planning to humor him and drive him along as carefully as possible for the next four days.

Never in Better Shape.—"He could go in there tomorrow and fight," Manager Kearns said, "but never in better condition. Our hardest task has been to keep him from overdoing his work. I never feel more confident of a victory that I do now."

Dempsey is prepared to box the 12 rounds if necessary, but he hopes it won't be necessary. Jack feels the same way about it.

Dempsey worked more impressively yesterday when he boxed seven rounds than he did on Saturday, when some of the experts thought he worked a trifle slow and listless. Battling Nelson, the former Dempsey champion, who sat in the press stand, expressed the opinion that the title-holder is a much better fighter than when he won the heavyweight championship from Jess Willard.

But, Nelson Impressed.—Dempsey is more polished and better developed, Nelson said. "His chest and shoulders are bigger, his waist and legs smaller. He looks to be in a wonderful condition and will taper off right. A day of rest and two days of light work will put him on edge."

Tommy Welsh, another lightweight champion, and Jack Root, who once fought Marvin Hart for the heavyweight championship, also were impressed with Dempsey's condition.

The champion weighed 191 pounds before he got into the ring yesterday and probably will race Carpenter at about the 182 pound mark, according to Kearns. This will give him a weight advantage of about 20 pounds.

More Mystery.—MANHATTAN, N. Y., June 27.—Training at the camp of Georges Carpenter took on a mysterious aspect again yesterday. Soon after Georges came in from the woods, the police guards were thrown about the camp and things began to hum behind the barn.

Manager Desamps as usual, refused to tell what was happening. He said however, that Carpenter was working hard and had been let loose. His sparring session with the champion, however, was suspended.

For a man weighing not more than 172 pounds, heavy calves are somewhat rare and seldom have been seen on successful heavyweights. Fighting one or two champions, one of whom was Jim Jeffries, almost all of them did not have large legs. A size-up of Twelve Heavyweights—The champion has been seen on the field of battle in the past two months has won two decisions from former Champion Fred Harren and also won a newspaper decision over Champion Joe Lynch in Detroit.

On the other hand, Friedman is the only bantamweight in the country who has forced Montreal to lower his colors in the past two years. Last January, Friedman won the referee's decision over Montreal in a Boston ring, and he is out to repeat the vic-

Back to his star went Sprinkle-Blow again, followed by Nancy, Nick and the Magical Mushroom. He was determined to find out which one of the Nulsange Fairies had caused the hall-storm down on the earth, thereby hitting Ben Bunny on the nose and nearly knocking him over.

Of course, the hall-storm stopped as suddenly as it began, and when the cloud found that it wasn't needed any longer for the Weatherman to sit on, it moved away.

Mr. Sun showed his round, bright face then to Ben Bunny's disgust (for Ben wanted the shower to last, although he didn't like hall-storms), and Ben and Blossom went into their supper again.

"It doesn't pay to be too hopeful," said Blossom. "I knew that something would happen so that we wouldn't have new lettuce for our dinner a week from Sunday."

Ben didn't reply, but went on eating back croquettes as glum as Monday morning.

Mr. Sprinkle-Blow set his bag inside the door of a house marked "Winds", first loosening the string so that King South Wind could let the tricky little breezes out if sh'd a mind to. Then he closed the door and locked it and put the key on his key-ring.

"Now who in creation has been tampering with my rain-barrels!" exclaimed he. "Someone has taken some of the stuff from the 'Rain 'n' Hall'."

KELLY HELD IN SECRET CUSTODY

Had Been Sought Since June 10 in Connection With Shooting

Arrest Withheld Since Last Friday—To Be Turned Over to Coroner

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—Glbert Kelly of Pittsburgh, for whom the authorities have searched since June 10, when James Neal, a department store employee, was killed during a holdup, has been held in secret custody by the police here since last Friday, Clyde S. Edburn, captain of detectives, announced late last night. The purpose of withholding information about his arrest, the detective head said, was to investigate the accuracy of statements which he said Kelly had made to him. He added that Kelly will be turned over to the coroner, Neal, was arrested last Friday, according to Captain Edburn.

Neal was fatally shot and robbed of cash and checks amounting to approximately $50,000 by a gang of bandits while on his way to the bank.

DEATHS

HAUN—Walter R. Haun, a former resident of Lowell but for the past 23 years a resident of Norwich, Conn., died at his home in that city, June 21. Mr. Haun was born in Welland, Ontario, Canada, March 1, 1858. After completing his education in the schools of that town he engaged in newspaper work with various Canadian papers, later coming to Lowell where he remained several years as a night editor of the Daily News composing department. While a resident of this city Mr. Haun resided in Willie st. In 1883 he accepted a position with the Norwich Record, remaining with this paper as composing room foreman and his daughter, a wife, one son and three daughters surviving. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, Norwich.

NOVAL—Thomas Noval died Saturday at his home, 419 Moody street, aged 26 years. He leaves his wife, Anna; four daughters, Mrs. Delta Montmery, Mrs. Ada Teague, Mrs. Sarah Montmery and Mrs. Clara Viguerre; three sons, Thomas, Philip of Worcester, and Phillip, natural of Wisconsin and two brothers, Paul and Antonino Noval of Lowell.

H., and Miss Gertrude Provoost of Granville; three sisters, Mrs. Rose Helemen, Miss Freda Provoost, Miss Josie Provoost and one brother, Arthur Provost, all of Granville. KEITH'S ORCHESTRA NOT ON STRIKE

In justice to the orchestra of Keith's theatre, it should be said that it had nothing to do with the strike of stage hands on the occasion of the high school graduation at the theatre last week. The orchestra had finished its season and was not engaged to play. The strike was declared under the rules of the "triple alliance"—the stage hands, electricians and movie operators and the musicians—adopted at a convention held in Toronto a few years ago. The rule was adopted because of previous trouble among the crafts mentioned. An official of the local musicians' union entered protest against the high school orchestra playing in Keith's theatre, and as no union orchestra was engaged, the strike of stage workers followed.

shoot him up. Officer Sayers asked that the "bad man" be pointed out, and Karatason was indicated. The officer asked him if he had a weapon, he said, and received a negative response. Finally he owned up to the accusation, however, and explained that he was toting the shooting-iron because he had quite a lot of money with him. "How much?" queried Sayers. "Twenty-five dollars," responded Karatason. At this point he was escorted to the station house, where a search revealed that he had something over nineteen dollars in his possession. The pistol, together with cartridges, were produced as evidence.

"I had the pistol," admitted the defendant, "but I want to explain how it happened." He went on to tell the judge of being in a shoe-shine parlor with money in his custody. It was to protect this, he declared, that he was lugging the hardware. "One hundred dollars," facetiously, remarked the court at this point.

Karatason wanted time to pay off this proposition, was the burden of the judge's reply, and the defendant was escorted to the prisoner's dock, where he sat in much dejection during the remainder of the session. A friend then appeared, and he appealed, being bailed in the sum of $250. It was understood that the appeal was taken so that he might have an opportunity to secure the necessary sums to make good on his fine.

PICKPOCKETS ACTIVE
Berry-picking season will soon be here, but pocket-picking season has arrived already. It was learned today, although not from the police. Adelie Coderre, residing at Moody and Spalding streets, visited police headquarters this morning and reported that while she was at Merrimack park Saturday evening, her purse was lifted from her pocket. Among the articles contained in the stolen purse was his chauffeur's license, it is understood. Later in the day the police stated that there was nothing new for the press in the way of crimes. Nevertheless, information can be obtained through other sources, making it possible to warn the public against the depredations of sneak thieves now seemingly active.

FIRE SWEEPS HAMPTON BEACH

Flames Break Out in Strand Hotel and Leap From Building to Building

Seven Hotels, Large Business Block and Score of Cottages Destroyed

Hotel Guests Flee in Night Clothes — Three Taken Down Ladders

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., June 27.—A conflagration which swept through the hotel, residence and business districts here early yesterday destroyed seven hotels, 13 cottages, a large business block, a theatre, a dance hall, a large garage, two apartment houses and a score of stores, over an area of four acres, and caused a property loss of $100,000.

The burned area corresponds largely to that which suffered in the fire of Sept. 23, 1915, when a loss of $250,000 was caused. In that fire the Ashworth, Delancy, Janvrin and Fairview hotels and St. Peter's church, the Olympia and Strand theatres, the Ferncroft dance hall and nearly two-score cottages were destroyed.

Guests Forced to Flee
In spite of the fact that the blaze was discovered in the kitchen of the Strand hotel at 3:45 a. m. by Mrs. C. G. Mitchell, wife of the manager, and spread rapidly, all the guests in the various hotels and the residents of

Lowell People Lost Buildings and Other Property in Fire That Swept Hampton Beach Yesterday

Lowell losses in the big fire at Hampton beach early yesterday morning will total between $25,000 and $30,000, according to a compilation of reports gathered here today. While there were many Lowell people at the resort when the fire broke out, most of them were outside the devastated area. The most serious Lowell losses were as follows: Miss Rose Courtney, owner of the "Necessity Shop," stock and building wiped out; loss unknown, but estimated at $10,000.

Miss Beatrice Kelley, needlecraft shop, Ocean avenue, completely burned out; loss between $7000 and $8000. Daniel H. Walker, two-apartment cottage, Nudd avenue, completely destroyed; loss estimated at $6000.

John A. Connor, Belmont street, occupant of half of Walker cottage, personal effects lost.

D. J. Leahy, 118 Mt. Washington street, occupant of apartment over Kelley store, personal effects lost.

William Gargan of this city, occupant of one of the cottages in the burned area, personal effects lost.

Without a doubt, Miss Courtney suffered the greatest loss among Lowell people but her relatives of this city today knew little of the extent of the damage to the variety store she conducted. However, it is known that the store was heavily stocked and that the flames practically consumed the building. Ten thousand dollars is believed to be a conservative estimate of the damage.

REPORT IRISH HEAD TO ACCEPT

Dublin Reports Reaching London Declare De Valera Will Attend Peace Conference

Britain Plans Vigorous Campaign if Present Plans for Settlement Fail

LONDON, June 27.—Belief that Eamon de Valera will accept Prime Minister Lloyd George's invitation to come to London for a conference with the government and Premier Craig of Ulster, designed to bring about a settlement of the Irish problem, is expressed in the majority of reports reaching this city from Dublin.

All reports agree that Lloyd George's invitation caused a profound sensation in Dublin and that the question whether De Valera would accept was the subject of universal speculation.

Sources predicting that De Valera will accept are generally agreed that he probably will attach sharp conditions to his acceptance, one being that more binding guarantees than contained in Lloyd George's letter must be given regarding the safe conduct of his colleagues whom De Valera may wish to have accompany him. This applies especially to Michael Collins, former commander-in-chief of the republican army, and Richard Mulcahy, who frequently has

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN FOR CONTRACT LABOR

The directors of the chamber of commerce at a special meeting this afternoon voted to put across its street paving campaign at the special election to be held in August through its office staff rather than by appointing a special committee to handle the arrangements.

The committee discussed the campaign at length and the idea of extensive newspaper advertising was looked upon with favor.

The directors also approved a photographic contest to be conducted under the auspices of the chamber this summer. The arrangements will be left to a committee to be appointed later. The contest will be open to all amateurs of the city and suitable prizes will be awarded. The chamber hopes to secure a number of photos of civic interest by means of the contest.

FOR SALE OF FIREWORKS

With the Fourth of July still a week away, more permits to sell fireworks have been issued so far by the fire dept. than were issued during the entire holiday season last year. In 1920 there were issued 170 permits; up to noon today no less than 135 permits had been issued for this year's observance.

New Concern Will Take Over Building Number 2 of the Bigelow-Hartford Group

There will be incorporated within a very short time the Lowell Public Warehouse Co., a concern which will take over the No. 2 building of the Bigelow-Hartford group in Market street, comprising half a million cubic feet, and will open within a week.

The new concern, which is backed by a number of Boston men, including J. Murray Howe, owner of the Bigelow-Hartford group of buildings, will endeavor to make Lowell a storage centre for this part of Massachusetts and the Merrimack valley.

Mr. Welch of New Bedford, who is to manage the new local concern, was in this city today making arrangements for the opening of the new plant and talked with Frank W. Brown, agent of the Boston & Maine railroad, relative to railroad accommodations.

The names of the incorporators have not yet been divulged but will be made public within a few days. The

Here's a Movie You'll Have
To Take at Its "Face" Value

ANITA STEWART. SHE HAS THE BRIGHTEST EYE OF ANY MOVIE STAR. YOU'RE GIVEN PLENTY OF OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY HER AT CLOSE RANGE IN "SOWING THE WIND"

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, June 27.—Bring out all the old family album. Take out all the old unotypes and cameos of Aunt Eliza and Uncle George and grandpa when he was a boy.

Insert in their places photographs of Anita Stewart in various degrees of facial contortion.

New flip the pages under your thumb and you'll not have to go to the movies to see "Sowing the Wind."

Never was a picture made with more close-ups than "Sowing the Wind." You forget you're watching a movie when you see it. You begin to believe that Miss Stewart's photographer has asked you to come around to the studio to help her select the best of the proofs.

That really is difficult, for Anita is very easy to look at, as the boys say. However, too much of a good thing is more than enough.

It is doubtful if ever a picture was made with more subtleties and less action. The subtleties preach to you. The gist of their sermon is "As ye sow, so shall ye reap"—or something like that.

A man doesn't want his adopted son to marry an actress. Women of the stage are no good, anyway, he says. And this particular actress is the daughter of a woman who is the main attraction at a gambling den.

She doesn't know who her father is. You rather pity the girl for not knowing who her father is. You know it as soon as the picture has proceeded 3000 feet. He's the foster-father of her sweetheart of course.

It seems that the old man in his younger day had married an actress and deserted her and knew nothing of the birth of the girl.

been referred to in England as an "organizer of assassination."

It is stated in some quarters that De Valera will not go to London without these two men, while it is predicted that he will insist on the release of other men now interned or imprisoned in order that they may accompany him. It is pointed out that the wording of the premier's letter will make it impossible for him to refuse such a demand by De Valera. This is considered to constitute a remarkable and significant change in the attitude of the British premier, who, earlier in the year, accepted certain Sinn Feiners from those whom he would be willing to receive as negotiators. The men accepted had been denounced in the house of commons as murderers.

In the event that De Valera refuses the premier's invitation, it is generally believed that the government will take energetic preparations for a vigorous campaign to suppress Sinn Fein activities in the west and south. Troops which could be used for this purpose are constantly arriving in Ireland.

In some sources, it is predicted that the services of British soldiers may be needed even if De Valera consents to negotiate, as it is held that he will be unable to stop the activities of Sinn Fein riflemen with our British forces.

The Manchester Guardian, in an editorial captioned, "It Is Business," says that Premier Lloyd George for the first time has taken a definitely practical step toward a settlement of the Irish question. The Guardian is of the opinion that the conference will be largely one between the Sinn Fein and Ulster which, it says, makes little difference "for it cannot be too often repeated that an agreement between Ireland is a key to an agreement between England as a whole and this country."

It points out that both sides must make concessions, while if the conference is to be a tripartite one, "it is because important concessions will necessarily be required from the British government also."

Promised Earnest Consideration
BELFAST, June 27.—In a message telegraphed here from Paris, where he is acting for Irish republican interests, Sean O'Ceallaigh, member of the Irish republican parliament, says:

"Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to explore the possibilities of a settlement, if independence is not obtained, will undoubtedly receive the earliest consideration of President De Valera and the Irish cabinet."

Ulster Paper Protests

BELFAST, June 27.—The unionist newspaper Northern Whig takes exception to Premier Lloyd George's attempt to "draw Ulster into a conference with the Sinn Fein, declaring he is not treating Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, fairly in asking him to meet Eamon de Valera and the Irish cabinet."

What Is Ulster to do with De Valera's absurd claim that he has got a republic in the country?" the paper demands.

The News Letter says: "We are disclosing no secrets when we say that this invitation for a conference is a sequel to the bringing into being of the northern parliament. The Sinn Fein has to face that fact and reckon with it. It can only do that in one of two ways: abandoning the demand for a republic and agreeing to a parliament under the government to the establishment of a south of Ireland act, or by continuing its present insane campaign to its own destruction by force."

The Nationalist Irish News says that the idea of inviting De Valera to London did not occur to Lloyd George and his colleagues until "they had made King George the agent and instrument of their policy of destruction in Ireland."

After pointing out that full fiscal freedom must be the basis of any negotiations for a national settlement, the paper says:

"It remains to be seen whether Lloyd George is acting because of a spasmodic pang of honesty or is merely developing another strategic maneuver for putting five-sixths of the Irish nation in wrong before the eyes of the world."

Confers With Colleagues

DUBLIN, June 27.—(By Associated Press)—After a day of conferences with colleagues in connection with Premier Lloyd George's letter, it was considered improbable that Eamon de Valera would make any statement regarding the invitation. It was said that last evening de Valera's conference with his colleagues had not been completed and that possibly a meeting of the Dail Eireann members might be considered essential to the situation.

Mr. de Valera yesterday served at mass and took breakfast at Blackrock college, where at one time he used to teach.

In Sinn Fein circles it is considered probable that if Mr. de Valera goes to London to confer with Premier Lloyd George and Premier Craig of Ulster, one colleague is sure to take along with him is John Joseph McKeown, member of parliament representing Longford, who recently was tried by court-martial on a charge of murdering District Inspector McGrath.

The letter was variously discussed here yesterday. One high Sinn Feiner said he thought it an insult and as implying acceptance of partition. Other political leaders saw in the letter an abandonment by the premier of his repeated bar against certain Sinn Feiners, as de Valera, they said, would be free to choose any colleagues he pleases, even men under sentence by court-martial.

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, said he could not see much use of a conference between Sir James Craig and Mr. de Valera, but as the government also was involved in the situation he had no hope, which would be desirable for the government to release from prison moderates like Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein.

The Sunday Independent, referring to the letter, says:

The premier's letter is a document of the greatest political importance. It is a welcome addition to the fact that we have insisted upon that an honorable peace in Ireland is achievable only through direct negotiations with the elected representatives. It is for our representatives to gauge the full and real significance of this appeal.

Inspector Killed

DUBLIN, June 27.—Detective Inspector Good, stationed at Northwall, was shot dead and Section Leader White of the auxiliaries quartered at Northwall was seriously wounded last night. The shooting occurred while the men were dining with their wives in a hotel in Dublin.

On Saturday night a number of men rallied at the home of Charles Trainor, outside the town of Moraghan, and informed his wife that he had been fined 16 pounds sterling by a republican court. She paid the fine. The men returned two hours later, took Trainor out and shot him dead. They attached the label of "spy" to the body.

House Burned in Cork

CORK, June 26.—Armed men on Saturday burned a number of houses in the Inniscarra district of Cork, among them the homes of Brig. Gen. Caulfield, Col. Godfrey and Michael Donohoe.

WHAT A WOMAN SHOULD DO WHEN SHE IS WEAK AND NERVOUS

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN HAVE SURPRISINGLY INCREASED THEIR STRENGTH, ENERGY AND ENDURANCE IN TWO WEEKS TIME BY THIS SIMPLE EXPERIMENT.

On account of the terrible weakness, nervousness and alarming symptoms, which are often produced by iron starvation in the blood, the sufferer frequently never suspects the real cause of her trouble but thinks she has some other disease. As a result of iron starvation women suffer from headaches, dizziness, shortness of breath or heart pain, fainting, pains across the back, loss of memory, weak will power, melancholy or the "blues," disturbed digestion, loss of appetite, sleepless nights, night sweats, and so on. These symptoms are all relieved if you go on to please and collapse. In a state of nervous prostration, but eat more spinach and green vegetables and take ergande iron like Nuxated Iron with them for a while and see what a difference it makes. But be sure that you take it organic iron and not metallic iron, which is supposed to take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic iron like Nuxated Iron is like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Beware of false claims. Look for "Nuxated" on every package and the label No. 1 on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists. —Adv.

Boston Society Girl Weds Prince Under Heavy Guard at Roxbury

PRINCE MICHAEL CATACUZENE AND HIS BRIDE, MISS CLARISSA PELHAM CURTIS OF BOSTON. THE PRINCE'S MOTHER WAS MISS JULIA DENT GRANT, GRAND-DAUGHTER OF THE PRESIDENT.

BOSTON, June 27.—Guarded by a platoon of police under the command of a captain, and with secrecy the watchword, Miss Clarissa Curtis, one of Boston's most popular society girls, became the bride of Prince Michael Catacuzene, great-grandson of Gen. U. S. Grant, in a little out-of-the-way church in Roxbury yesterday.

The nuptial ceremony, through which this Boston girl was to become a Russian princess of the old regime, was, as far as the public knew, scheduled to take place with much splendor and pomp and with society beaming its approval, at Nahant today.

A royal mandate and a desire to safeguard the only member of the Russian royalty in the Bay State was responsible for the departure of the couple from their original plans, thus treating all but their close relatives to a surprise.

Word Comes From Russia

Today's ceremony was to have been the only one, so far as the original plans of the couple were concerned. Recently, however, word came from the head of the royal group, who emerged alive from the Bussian debacle, that he would consent to the marriage of the prince only on condition that the latter be married legally in his own—the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic church. Consent was necessary if the bride was to be recognized as a princess in what is left of Russia's royal circles.

Warning was conveyed, too, that the greatest care must be taken to provide for the safety of the prince from any persons who might be allied with the Bolsheviks, and who might wish to do him and his lovely bride harm.

Thus it was decided to have two ceremonies, the first and legal one in the little Russian edifice in Roxbury yesterday, and the second and confirming one in the bride's church at Nahant today.

The groom arrived about a half hour

Legion's New Chief Tells Program; Will Push Fight for Compensation

INDIANAPOLIS, June 27.—The new national commander of the American Legion, Major John G. Emery, is up to his neck in the job. He outlined his program to-day especially for The Sun.

"The time is ripe to stress the adjusted compensation program undertaken by the legion," he said. "This does not mean gilding up one iota of interest in the legislative program for the benefit of disabled soldiers which is approaching conclusion.

"The five-fold adjusted compensation program, before congress, back of which the legion will throw its full force, gives the service men five options:

"FIRST, to buy a farm home on terms not available to the ordinary person.

"SECOND, to borrow money on special terms which will enable him to purchase a city home.

"THIRD, to enter a course in vocational training.

"FOURTH, an insurance feature with a deferred payment system.

"FIFTH, the cash payment.

"The American Legion will continue to urge the men to take the first four in preference to the cash payment.

"We have been told that there are some people—"gold-breakers" they were called in the army—getting compensation although not disabled. The legion will lend its aid to safeguard the government against being imposed upon by such men."

ahead of the bride. He was accompanied by his father and his mother, the latter before her marriage Miss Julia Dent Grant, granddaughter of Gen. U. S. Grant. The bride was accompanied by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Pelham Curtis of 447 Beacon street. Both parties motored to the church from Nahant and after the ceremony returned to the Curtis home in that town.

In the motor with the bride and her parents came Gordon Palmer, about seven or eight years old. He carried an icon of the Madonna and Child Jesus worked in gold. It was the property at one time of the dead czar of Russia, who had it with him when he was at the front during the world war. When he gave up his throne Gen. Korniloff transferred it to the Catacuzene family. Another interesting feature was the presence of Pauline Palmer, a little five or six-year-old girl.

After the wedding party had entered the church the doors were closed, for none but the specially invited guests were permitted to witness the ceremony, conducted with all the pomp and ritual of the Russian Orthodox Greek church.

With the marriage of the young Prince Catacuzene and Miss Curtis the second prince of this illustrious Russian royal government fell. A rage to an American girl, Prince Catacuzene was born in Russia, but frequently visited this country before he became a student at Harvard. He graduated from that university a few days ago.

The Catacuzene family held large estates in Southern Russia. The elder prince held important military positions in St. Petersburg, however, and most of the time of the family was spent in that capital. The family came to America during the war, when the Russian royal government fell. The bridesmaid, Miss Anne Culinan, a sister of the bride, wore grey georgette with hat to match and carried pink roses. The flower girls were Misses Katherine Cullinan, sister of the bride, and Marion Richardson, and both were attired in pink organdie with hats to match and carried sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. William J. Collins. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Cullinan, 394 Beacon street, where a buffet luncheon was served, followed by a brief reception. Mr. and Mrs. Alford left at noon on a two-weeks' automobile trip and upon their return they will make their home at 57 Methuen street.

"We are going to get legionnaires who are sleeping on park benches in New York City and other cities to Kansas and other sections where men are hardly needed to harvest the crops. We haven't determined just how this plan will be carried out, but action will be taken at the earliest possible moment. "We want to stress Americanism. It is the keystone of the arch and the Americanism program will still be going on 25 or 50 years from now—long after the disabled soldiers' relief measures and other features of the present program have been put into full effect."

"The Americanism program will be directed to making Americans better Americans, as well as to making Americans out of the foreigners who reach our shores.

"The greatest thing the American Legion has done, I believe, has been to make the people of America and of the world understand that its motives are purely unselfish.

"With the national relaxation from our tremendous war effort there came a corresponding diminution of interest in public affairs on the part of the average citizen.

"The first move of the American Legion was to meet this danger by rekindling the citizen's interest in his community, his state and his country.

"With the sense of responsibility to community, state and nation before our citizenship in peace and war, the nightmare of destructive radicalism and disintegrating factional strife which has assailed so many nations since the war, has been spared our country.

"It is the determination of the American Legion to go forward with its fight, emphasizing always a more vivid conception by each citizen of his personal obligation of service to his country."

J. J. Fitzpatrick Says Fifty Thousand Dollars Couldn't Buy the Good Tanlac Did Him

"I wouldn't swap the good Tanlac has done me for fifty thousand dollars in cash," was the emphatic statement made by James J. Fitzpatrick, 3 Bellingham Ave., Braintree, Mass., well known employee of the National Asphalte and Chemical company of Boston.

"It just seemed that Tanlac was made specially for my case, for the way it has restored my health is simply remarkable. For six months before I commenced taking it my stomach was in such an awful fix I could hardly eat anything, and often I had spells of indigestion when I thought surely my time had come, for the gas on my stomach would almost choke me and the pains nearly drove me distracted. I was so nervous I never got any good sleep. I had rheumatism, too, in my neck and limbs, and many days it was so bad I just could limp around, and could hardly make my rounds at the plant."

"I had been disappointed by so many medicines that I had but very little confidence in Tanlac, but since taking it I can tell anybody they can depend on it, and I wouldn't think of being without it myself. My stomach trouble and rheumatism are entirely gone, and I am eating, sleeping and getting about just like a school boy. My wife packs my lunch pail jam full of good, heavy foods, and I never leave a bit of it to bring home. In short, I have never felt better in my life, and I gladly tell everyone Tanlac is the greatest medicine on earth."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of special Tanlac representative, W. Wright, Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.

Only Woman in Parliament Tells How to Bring the Men to Time!

LADY NANCY ASTOR

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, June 27.—"Time's up, my man. You've broken your pledges. You've fought the things we are interested in. You'll have to pass on and out."

That's what Viscountess Astor, American-born and the only woman member of the British parliament, thinks the women voters of Britain and of America will have to say to their elected representatives when they "fall down" on their pledges.

It's not an easy job to interview Lady Astor. The trouble is that there are only 24 hours in the day, and all of hers are intensely occupied.

I talked with her at one of the series of political receptions Lady Astor is giving to representatives of various women's organizations and members of both houses of parliament in her home in St. James square.

In one corner you might see Lord Robert Cecil, advocate of the League of Nations, talking with a Hindu woman leader; over yonder, Arthur Henderson, one of the heads of the labor party, holding an animated argument with a pretty daughter of England's landed aristocracy.

OUR NATIONAL FINANCES

Just at present our statesmen at Washington are greatly perplexed with some heavy financial problems. One of these is the refunding of the war loans to European nations that now appeal to the United States for an extension of time for payment.

At first they tried to have the government cancel the loans altogether. They argued that the war was for our benefit as well as for theirs, and that as they had been longer engaged against the central powers, it would be but a recognition of their sacrifice "for us" to say "your debts are cancelled. The nine billions of dollars we loaned you was borrowed from our people; but seeing that you have done us such valiant service, we will waive out these loans and let our people go hang!"

That would have been very nice for the European powers to be sure, but naturally the American government took a different view of the situation, a different view of the causes that led us into the war and of the final result. Americans entered the war first, to defend our rights on the sea; and second, to save the faltering cause of the allies, and in so doing to overthrow German autocracy and make the world safe for democracy. We saved the allies and promptly ended the war, when without our aid Germany would probably have dictated the terms of peace.

When, therefore, the allied powers proposed a cancellation of our war loans, they evidently underestimated the part we played in the war. There are other evidences that they have minimized our efforts and that they think we should put off the payment of the war loans for a long period of years.

At the present time congress and Secretary Mellon of the treasury department are working on this problem, although our people can ill afford to postpone the payment of this debt as it will keep up the taxes and prolong the effects of the war on business and on our financial recovery from the vast drafts upon our resources during the great conflict.

But it is alleged that this amortization of our war loans will help the European nations to get on their feet in the industrial sense. Therefore, the loans, we understand, are to be refunded in a manner not yet decided upon, although a bill is before congress embodying a plan for that purpose. One plan contemplated the issue of bonds by the debtor governments and the sale of these securities to their respective peoples in order to shift as much as possible of the debt from the shoulders of the American people. We doubt whether the debtor nations will want to do this. They prefer to have us continue to carry the burden. Of course it is doubtful whether such bonds could be disposed of to responsible investors.

These loans were distributed to the European powers as follows:

Great Britain	$4,277,000,000
France	2,997,477,500
Italy	1,631,333,587
Belgium	349,214,455
Russia	157,729,750
Czecho-Slovakia	61,036,205
Serbia	26,750,465
Romania	25,000,000
Greece	15,000,000
Cuba	10,000,000
Liberia	28,000
Total	$114,530,500

The sum of $114,530,500 has been paid in interest chiefly by Great Britain, France, Rumania and Serbia.

Now as to our own national debt, it was given out as of April 30, 1921, as follows:

Bonds or funded debt	$10,158,000,000
Notes (Victory loans)	4,969,000,000
Tax and Loan certificates	2,820,000,000
War Saving Securities	714,000,000
All others	235,000,000
Total	$23,098,000,000

With this debt hanging over their heads, the people of this nation want it reduced as soon as possible so as to lighten the burden of taxation; but our financiers at Washington say there is no way of doing it with not only this debt but other vast claims coming against the government. There is a demand for a soldiers' bonus of four or five billions; the railroads want five billions or over; several billions are needed to relieve the housing shortage, and still more billions are sought by various public utilities.

If business were booming, the nation would be much better able to meet its obligations; but business is not booming and there is little prospect of any real prosperity for another year.

The export business of the United States has fallen off nearly fifty per cent since the peak of 1920 and with tariff protection and the difficulty of competing in the foreign markets with nations in which the cost of production is little over half what it is in this country, the actual situation may be realized.

The republicans came into control of the government with a great hurrah for economy; but while the expenses of running the government were five billions of dollars before, the present administration has raised them to six billions, and if the house bill now before congress should be passed, the total expenditures for next year might reach the stupendous sum of seven and a half billions. But while the nation is staggering under this burden the people would not complain so loudly if there was not also a widespread lack of employment. It is a time when the good offices of the government at Washington should be exerted in behalf of our own people rather than those of foreign nations. With such burdens of taxation pressing upon all classes, not only are we to amortize our foreign loans, but to do so at a rate of interest which is but a fraction of what the American people have to pay for borrowed money. Is that fair to the people of the United States? We emphatically say no!

COLLEGE DEVELOPMENT

Dr. Charles F. Thwing Talks on Future Development of American Colleges

Dr. Charles F. Thwing has been president of Western Reserve university at Cleveland, after serving 31 years—being the longest in service of any head of any American university. During his presidency he has built the university from a comparatively small institution to one of the largest and most influential in the country. Dr. Thwing was asked by The Sun to forecast, on the basis of his long experience, what the development of American colleges will be during the next 31 years.

BY DR. CHARLES F. THWING, President of Western Reserve university

America lacks wise and strong leadership. It is prone to let feeling advocate direct action and the general strike. The time has come when the employees of large corporations must turn down such leadership as productive only of ruin and disaster. The time has arrived also, when corporations are bound to recognize the right of unions to collective bargaining and to grant the employees representation in the management wherever this is possible.

As a result of what has been learned during the late war, it is found best to avoid misunderstandings and to promote co-operation rather than enmity. But for the obstinacy of some employers in refusing to concede the rights of labor, the socialists, the anarchists and the Bolsheviks would have few followers in this country.

THE BOXERS

Epictetus, the Greek philosopher, versed in many lines of human endeavor, gave this advice to boxers: "You must live by rule, submit to diet, abstain from dainty meats, exercise your body perfectly at stated hours, in heat or in cold; drink no cold water, nor, it may be, wine. In a word, to win the laurel wreath, you must surrender yourself wholly to your trainer, as though to a physician."

Training rules for boxers haven't changed a bit since Epictetus' time, 2000 years ago. But would Jack and Georges fight for a laurel wreath? The wealth of Croesus would hardly compare with the vast amounts that will be paid to see the fight and the other amounts that will change hands on baks.

SUCCESS

If you had your life to live over again, what would you do with it? Charles M. Schwab answered the question the other day. He told a graduating class he would gladly give up fame and wealth for youth so that he might start all over again to struggle for success in "the dawning era of the greatest development in the history of the world."

He has learned this: When a man has acquired more money than he can possibly use, he discovers that the joy of success is not in the prize, but in the work whereby he got it. And Schwab worked hard from boyhood. If you were as rich as Schwab, would you care to trade your wealth for youth in order to start over again?

SIMS REBUKED

Admiral Sims got off with a public rebuke for a very indiscreet speech in which he proved himself an abject toady to a foreign government and an asinine critic of his own. He charged the newspapers on this side with garbling his speech but did not hint that the London papers misquoted him; and yet their accounts of his speech as printed here, differed quite materially from the admiral's own version given as his sober recollection of what he said. There is, therefore, a question of veracity between the admiral and the London dailies. They may be surprised to find that the gallant admiral eliminated all the bravado from his speech when called upon to answer for it at Washington.

TO RESTRICT THE DOCTORS

There seems to be a rancor between the national house and senate to see which will lead in the movement to outlaw beer for medical use. It is planned to provide a law against the copious prescriptions which Attorney-General Palmer allowed were permissible under the Volstead law. There is opposition, as there should be, to any fanatical interference with the freedom of physicians to prescribe anything they think will help their patients; but congress rather dreads that under the Palmer license some doctors would be regarded more in the light of liquor dealers than of medical practitioners.

MAN WITH BULLET IN LEG PLAYS HARMONICA

The circus people say they cut out the street parade because it was cruel to animals, but they did not have in mind the small two-legged animals who stood pop-eyed on the curbstones to watch the wonders go by.

The Boston & Maine railroad has applied to the Interstate commerce commission for permission to borrow a large sum of money. Would that some of it were intended for use in paying for cutting an end to the Middlesex street crossing menace.

Some people have doubtless felt, as they paid their income taxes, that they wished Uncle Sam was as lenient with his domestic as with his foreign creditors.

Let us hope that the girls of the Morey school, graduating in simple costumes all alike, have set an example for many future classes in the same and other schools to follow.

Now is a good time to repeat that the value of education is not to be measured by the dollar yardstick or earning capacity.

Swearing he would never consent to another tax day, the mayor consented to another.

One thing is certain and that is that under the new charter we shall have a mayor whose duties are definitely laid down.

We have yet to learn the identity of the pirates operating at sea. We already know some of the dry land pirates.

Judging by remarks which are frequently overheard, if corporations had ears, something besides coal would be burning around the gas plant.

A member of the English nobility has been kidnapped. People plainly have peculiar tastes even in kidnapping.

About this time the Concord river begins to discredit all the nice things Thoreau said of its freshness and beauty.

The latest Massachusetts murder trial suggests that hereafter Justice should be pictured with a small creeping just ahead of her.

COLLEGE DEVELOPMENT

Pains Around the Heart

Dr. Charles F. Thwing Talks on Future Development of American Colleges

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force the food is retained until it ferments. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart disease rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to needless alarm.

Dr. William's Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich, red blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation. With thin blood and weak nerves it is impossible to avoid stomach trouble. Build up the blood and strengthen the nerves and note the increased appetite, the comfortable feeling after eating and the improvement in health and vigor.

Two books "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. William's Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. William's Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store on they will be sent direct, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box.

BIG WEEK IN BRITAIN

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

11 PERISHED IN FIRE

Prospect of Most Momentous Period in Century of British History

LONDON, June 27.—(Canadian Press)—In the event of Eamonn de Valera accepting Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to visit London for a peace conference, it is probable that the Dominion prime ministers, now in London, will be invited by the British prime minister to participate in the negotiations.

If Mr. de Valera accepts the invitation this week in London may well be one of the most momentous in a century of British history. With the miners and their employers called to confer today, with hope for the settlement of the Irish question presented and with the Anglo-Japanese alliance and all that it involves under consideration, No. 10 Downing street will be big with possibilities in the future of the world.

DISABLED SOLDIERS' LEAGUE CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, June 27.—To impress congress with the necessity of taking proper care of former service men who were wounded in France, members of the National Disabled Soldiers' League opened the first convention of the organization here today with a parade to the capitol. John T. Nolan, chairman of the league's legislative committee, in a statement said the veterans intended "to air their grievances."

An effort will be made particularly, he declared, to have "men who served in the mud and mire of France" replace those connected with the federal board for vocational education who were not in the military service during the war.

Officers of the league said 800 disabled men had arrived in Washington for the convention. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts will be one of the speakers.

400 N. E. BANKERS

VISIT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 27.—Four hundred New England bankers today foraged business worries and wandered about New York on a vacation jaunt. Tonight they were scheduled to hear an address by Vice President Coolidge, who was due to arrive this afternoon.

The bankers, who arrived yesterday and visited police headquarters today and were entertained by a drill of police rookies. The rogues' gallery was another object of interest on their tour of inspection, and there, the inside workings of police protection for financial institutions were explained.

The participants in the picnic trip were heads of the National Shawmut bank of Boston and 300 correspondent banks of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island.

CHURCH CHOIR HOLDS ANNUAL OUTING

There was music galore on the shores of Long pond yesterday, for the members of St. Joseph's church choir held their annual outing at the Club Bachelet, and for a couple of hours they entertained the campers at that resort, with very pleasing chorus numbers.

In the course of the day sporting events were carried out, games were played, and the members of the party enjoyed bathing. At 2 o'clock, an elaborate shore dinner was served, and the remainder of the day was taken up with more singing and more sport, until the party left the outing grounds. They extended their thanks to the members of Club Bachelet for their cordial hospitality, and their congratulations to their director for the splendid program carried out.

MASSACHUSETTS MILL TEAM VICTORIOUS

The Massachusetts mill nine were easy victors over the Hoot Mill aggregation, winning by a score of 14 to 4. Saturday evening on the South common, Peterson, of the "Mass," allowed only five scattered hits, pitching a tight ball throughout the contest, and striking out 10. The team of the "Mass" was the brilliant hitting of Cheswick and Brennan. Clough and Noel also deserve great credit, registering two clean hits. Sousa played a nifty game in the field, while Hanford held the fort at the second sack. Biley caught.

AWNING BURNED

A large hole was burnt in the awning owned by M. Theodoratos at 328-331 Moody street, shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is believed the fire was caused by a lighted cigarette dropped from a window of the second story. A still alarm was sent in and the blaze was quickly extinguished.

Anglo-Japanese Treaty May Be Replaced by Tripartite Agreement

LONDON, June 27.—The imperial conference, which was reassembled today is likely to last much longer than originally was proposed, probably through July. Even then it is believed, it will be found necessary to postpone action on many subjects pending further discussion.

During the past week, there has been a full confidential reviewing of the empire's foreign policy, but one of the speeches delivered in this connection has been made public.

There has been a noticeable development recently in press comment on the subject of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty. Hitherto it had been generally assumed that the government recently in press comment on the treaty, but with modifications clearly defining its position with respect to the United States and China.

A number of influential papers, however, in their most recent comment, have favored the idea of replacing the treaty by some tripartite agreement or understanding among England, the United States and Japan, which would regulate all questions concerning the Pacific ocean and China.

11 PERISHED IN FIRE

Indications of Foul Play in Kentucky Tragedy—Home Burned

MAYFIELD, Ky., June 27.—The bodies of five adults and six children were found in the ruins of the home of Ernest Lawrence, a farmer living about seven miles from here, which was destroyed by fire Saturday night. There were indications that the dead may have been the victims of foul play and at a coroner's inquest held here yesterday a non-committal verdict was returned.

The dead are Ernest Lawrence, aged 23; his wife, aged 23, and three children ranging in age from five years to 11 months; Otto Drew, aged 28; his wife, aged 23 and three children ranging from four years to four months, and Delmer Drew, aged 23. Lawrence and Otto Drew were brothers-in-law and the Drews were brothers.

Neighbors who were attending a picnic a mile from the Lawrence house, a long structure of only two rooms, saw the blaze about 11:30 o'clock. Two young men, the first to arrive on the scene, were unable to enter the house because of the fire, but climbing a tree could see the bodies lying on the floor.

An examination of the bodies, which were burned so badly that recognition was impossible, showed that one of the women bore wounds that seemed to have been made by some sharp instrument. The dress of the infant which this woman is thought to have been holding in her arms was drenched in blood. In one of the rooms where several of the bodies were lying was a revolver containing six empty cartridges, a shotgun, a rifle with a cartridge that had been discharged and another exploded cartridge nearby, a double-bladed ax which was lying on the bed springs near the body of one of the men and a large oil can which had been kept in the yard.

Particles of clothing were clinging to the bodies of the men, showing that they had not retired before they met death.

Screams of women and children and several shots are said to have been heard by neighbors shortly before the fire was discovered.

SPORTING NEWS AND NEWSY SPORTS

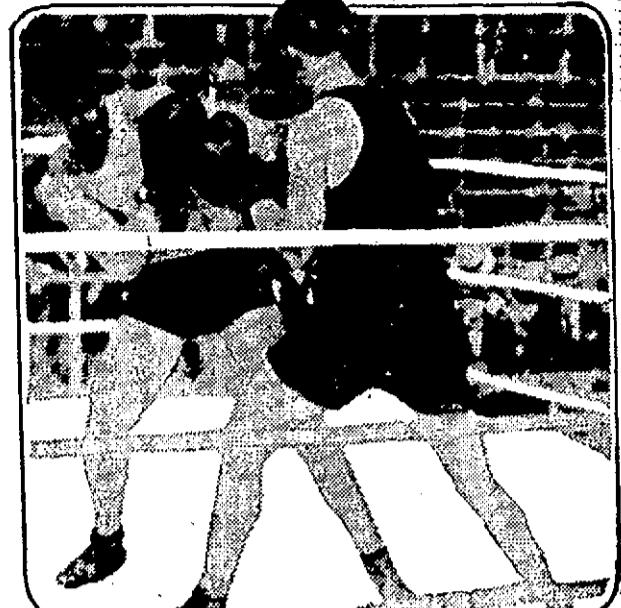

CHAMP DEMPSEY, THE "MAN-KILLER," SNAPPED THROUGH THE AIRPORT ROPES

When Jack Dempsey "gets his mad up," the fans who leave a dollar at the box office get their money's worth. For Jack wades just as though Georges Carpenter stood in his sparring partner's shoes. Here he's boxing with Larry Williams.

Dempsey has just landed a right on Big Jack Renault, one of the champ's sparring partners, and as Renault staggers back from the blow, Dempsey is preparing to follow it up with a left. The champ, you notice, already has stepped forward with the old left fist ready to unleash.

Larry Williams landed a stiff one on Dempsey just before the photographer snapped. Here Jack is shown moving in close to mix it up and pay Williams back. There's nothing the champ likes so much as fighting at close range.

Mercury Footed Runner Corrects Flaws by a Unique System

CHARLIE PADDOCK ON THE MARK

PASADENA, Cal., June 27.—Charlie Paddock, the California filer, is being trained for the A.A.U. national championship sprint races with as much care as a thoroughbred is given in preparation for the Kentucky derby.

His coach, Dean Cromwell, believes Paddock will startle the world with more records July 4. In the meet here.

Paddock's start is notably poor. Also, he runs better when in the lead than behind.

To speed up his starting and at the same time make him a better man while running, a unique system has been devised.

Paddock is placed at scratch. Cromwell's second best man, Jimmy Lash, is placed on the 6-yard mark. Bill Iacchour, captain of the 1922 track team, is stationed at the 10-yard mark, and George Schiller, Olympic game quarter-miler, is placed on the 15-yard mark.

They start together at the crack of the gun.

Paddock is expected to pass the first man at the 40-yard mark, the second at the 80-yard line, and to tie the third man at the finish.

How good the system works will not be known until after the A.A.U. championship races.

Right now, Paddock is in better

Must Prove He's Real Champ

BY JAMES J. JEFFRIES
Former World's Heavyweight Champion

To my mind Jack Dempsey has yet to prove that he is real heavyweight champion. Those who really know that Jack Dempsey will have a walk-over with Carpenter are crazy.

I don't say Dempsey will not win, but I do say there is nothing in his record to prove that he is going to have any cinch with this fast fellow Carpenter.

I have talked with men who know something about fighting—what I would call smart fellows. After listening to them tell of Dempsey and Carpenter in action it seems to me that all this talk of the Frenchman lasting a round or so is pretty much the bunk.

JEFFRIES
The schedule of baseball games for the Stony Brook Valley baseball league for this week and next is as follows: June 28, Forge Village at North Chelmsford, Granville at Chelmsford Centre and West Chelmsford at Westford; June 30, North Chelmsford at Forge Village, Westford at West Chelmsford and North Chelmsford at Granville; July 1, North Chelmsford at Westford and Granville at West Chelmsford; July 3, Chelmsford Centre at Forge Village, Westford at North Chelmsford and Westford at North Forge Village and Westford at North

Tomorrow Jeffries tells of his first fight with Corbett and likens it to that all this talk of the Frenchman lasting a round or so is pretty much the bunk.

Pere Marquette, K. of C., Team, Triumphs Over Local Knights in Fine Game—Harvard Stars in Local Lineup

PERE MARQUETTE

The last Pere Marquette council K. of C. team defeated the Lowell K. of C. team Saturday afternoon before a "casual" crowd at Shadling park by a score of 6 to 4.

With the exception of two innings in which each team lapsed a bit, the game was a regular league contest and some spirited play was turned in by both outfits.

The visitors are a well balanced aggregation and showed the result of team play as the game progressed. Fitzgerald, who was in the box, is a wonderfully cool fellow, who has a classy assortment of shots, and knows how to mix 'em up. At times he made the Lowell 'n wrecking crew look bad. He had eleven strike outs and allowed but six hits. He was given great support, by a fast infield, and while his outfield was not called upon to do much work it came through in all but one instance. Dempsey, who was on the receiving end, is a peppery individual who led his players in a constant line of chatter that added much to the game.

Eddie Goode, the Harvard star twirler, was on the mound for Lowell. He showed much class.

The visitors made five hits and five runs, all coming after two hits had been retired a few bad decisions and an accident had much to do with the scoring.

Goode fanned seven and was touched up for 11 hits. In all but the fourth and the third the hits were well scattered. Eddie Cawley played his usual graceful and effective game at the hot corner, and was the only local man to obtain more than the nod. He made two, each of which scored a run. Conlon, the Harvard shortstop, showed why he is considered a league prospect. He is like a flash, and goes after everything within a mile of him, and usually gets them. He is also a good hitter.

Gilroy, the former Georgetown athlete, appeared in left at the outset, but had to retire owing to an injury to his left ankle in the fifth. This was the inning that decided the game. The visitors had scored a run in the second on Haye's three-bagger, and a single by McMahon in the fifth after Cawley had been retired. Haye, Stolzen bases; Doherty, Dempsey, Cawley, W. DEMP AND CARP POLO BABE BROUGHT IN FINAL GRIND

POLO BABE BROUGHT IN FINAL GRIND

AMERICAN VICTORY

BY DEAN SNYDER

Tommy Hitchcock, Jr., is the baby of America's triumphant polo team and he was also the "Babe Ruth" of the international matches.

Tommy is the big scorer for the Americans in lifting the international cup from England.

Hitchcock is just 22. The men he played with and against are all nearly twice his age.

Millburn is 32, Rumsey 41, Stoddard

19 and Webb 36.

A youngster's chief fault in the past has been in getting direction to his drives.

But he didn't have any trouble in swatting polo "home runs" in England.

GOLF INTEREST

Boston is seeking the amateur golf championship tournament for 1922.

The classic golfers held in Massachusetts but over in 1919, when William C. Fowles, Jr., capped the title.

With the championship at St. Louis in September, it is natural to expect the scene of the big amateur classic will be shifted to the east next year.

The members of the short-lived

Joint event of amateur golf from one section to another is a fine thing for the game, as it keeps interest keyed up everywhere.

NERVE COUNTS

Golf is still one game that improves with age.

There is something about the game that does not coincide with the saying that "youth must be served."

Harry Vardon, close to 50, can still head off the stars of the younger generation.

Vardon won victory in this country at the age of 30, back in 1900. In the national open championships. That was before Bobby Jones was born.

The oldsters have the nerve. That's what tells in a big tournament.

FREDDIE WRIGHT TO TRY AGAIN NEXT YEAR

BOSTON, June 27.—Fred J. Wright,

Jr., returning from England where he was the last American to survive in the recent British amateur golf tournament, said he intended to go abroad in quest of the title again next year. Although the Americans would prefer to see the championship match play extended to 28 holes, he said he thought it would not be wise to play for nearly a month, but an hour after his return home yesterday, he scored a 68

on the links of his home club, Albermarie, tying the course in going out with a 31.

COLLEGIANS DRAW

Nearly 20,000 people saw the opening game between the Harvard and Yale elines.

That's a record crowd for college baseball. It speaks well of the new interest in college diamond sport, too.

They show more inside star than most of the major league teams are displaying this year.

Big league baseball has developed into a slugging game, while college games are old-fashioned enough to play the regular Eddie Collins brand.

the present champion shows his calves

to be much smaller than those of Carpentier. These experts who have followed pugilists for years always have

contented themselves with a handicap

to heavyweights. It is their argument that such a lag slows their footwork. Others, however, argue that his heavy underpinning will aid his

hold in a heavy bombardment of Dempsey's punches.

PRELIMINARIES JULY 2

NEW YORK, June 27.—Preliminary hous at the contest for the world's heavyweight championship next Saturday, at Jersey City, as announced by the Deakard promoters will be held by Dempsey in three rounds, last September, against Jack Renault,

Dempsey's sparring partner; Gene

Timney and Soldier Jones, heavyweights; Babe Herman vs. Joe

Metzgar; Pecky O'Gatney of New York vs. Franklyn Burns of Jersey

City; Dick Griffin vs. Midget Smith, bantamweights; Jackie Curtin vs.

McKey Delmont (or Willie Spencer).

During one hundred and forty-five years, the United States has been engaged in 110 wars or military expeditions.

For a man weighing not more than 172 pounds heavy calves are somewhat rare and seldom have been noted on successful heavyweights. Excepting one or two champions, one of whom was Jim Jeffries, almost all of them did not have large legs. A size-up of the present champion shows his calves

to be much smaller than those of Car-

pentier. These experts who have followed pugilists for years always have

contented themselves with a handicap

to heavyweights. It is their argument that such a lag slows their footwork. Others, however, argue that his heavy underpinning will aid his

hold in a heavy bombardment of Dempsey's punches.

KELLY HELD IN SECRET CUSTODY

Had Been Sought Since June 10 in Connection With Shooting

Arrest Withheld Since Last Friday—To Be Turned Over to Coroner

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—Gilbert Kelly of Pittsburgh, for whom the authorities have searched since June 10, when James Neal, a department store employee, was killed during a holdup, has been held in secret custody by the police here since last Friday, Clyde S. Esteburn, captain of detectives, announced late last night. The purpose of withholding information as to his whereabouts, the detective head said, was to investigate the accuracy of statements which he said Kelly had made to him. He added that Kelly will be turned over to the coroner tomorrow. Kelly was arrested in McKeesport, near here, last Friday, according to Captain Esteburn. Neal was fatally shot and robbed of cash and checks amounting to approximately $50,000 by a gang of bandits while on his way to the bank.

KEITH'S ORCHESTRA NOT ON STRIKE

In justice to the orchestra of Keith's theatre, it should be said that it had nothing to do with the strike or stage hands on the occasion of the high school graduation at the theatre last week. The orchestra had finished its season and was not engaged to play. The strike was declared under the rule of the "triple alliance"—the stage hands, electricians and movie operators and the musicians—adopted at a convention held in Toronto a few years ago. The rule was adopted because of previous trouble among the crafts mentioned. An official of the local musicians union had protested against the high school orchestra playing in Keith's theatre, and as no union orchestra was engaged, the strike of stage workers followed.

Fined for Carrying Pistol

shot him up. Officer Sayers asked that the "bad man" be pointed out, and Karabatson was indicated. The officer asked him if he had a weapon, he said, and received a negative response. Finally he owned up to the accusation, however, and explained that he was toting the shooting-iron because he had quite a lot of money with him. "How much?" queried Sayers. "Twenty-five dollars," responded Karabatson. At this point he was escorted to the station house, where a search revealed that he had something over nineteen dollars in his possession. The pistol, together with cartridges, were produced as evidence.

"I had the pistol," admitted the defendant. "I want to explain how it happened." He went on to tell the judge of being in a shoe-shine parlor with money in his custody. It was to protect this, he declared, that he was lugging the hardware. One hundred dollars, Iacocca remarked, the court at this point.

Karabatson wanted time to pay. That there was "nothing doing" on this proposition, was the burden of the judge's reply, and the defendant was escorted to the prisoners' dock, where he sat in much dejection during the remainder of the session. A friend then appeared, and he appealed, being bailed in the sum of $250. It was understood that the appeal was taken so that he might have an opportunity to secure the necessary sums to make good on his fine.

PICKPOCKETS ACTIVE

Berry-picking season will soon be here, but pocket-picking season has arrived already, it was learned today, although not from the police. Adelie Coderre, residing at Meedy and Spalding streets, visited police headquarters this morning, and reported that the police were at Metcalf and Saturday evening his purse was lifted from his pocket. Among the articles contained in the stolen purse was his chauffeur's license, it is understood. Later in the day the police stated that there was no record of a theft in the city of Boston. No other information received through other sources makes it possible to warn the public against the possible of break ins.

FUNERALS

SHEEHAN—The funeral of Miss Maud Sheehan took place this morning at 10 o'clock from her home, 135 Main street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortège proceeded to St. Columba's church where, at 10 o'clock, a solemn funeral high mass was sung by Rev. F. M. Somers, assisted by Rev. John McCarthy, the deacon, and Rev. John Doherty, O.M.I., of the Sacred Heart church as sub-deacon. An unusually large congregation was present within the sacred edifice, testifying to the high esteem in which deceased was held and evidencing the profound sorrow felt at her tragic death. The choir, under the direction of Miss Katherine Whaley, rendered the Gregorian mass. The Psalms and the Benedic were sung by Miss Margaret McFarland, and after the elevation, Mr. Fred Cummings rendered "O Miserere Passionis." Miss Whaley presiding at the organ.
